

On your daily exercise with your parents or in your back garden see how many different types of plants and flowers you can spot. Tick them off on the checklists if you are able to print them, or take photos or write a list of them.

