

Background information:

The Woodland Trust website has some great information to help you identify an even wider variety of British trees:

Now look at the Science PPT.

Activity:

Whilst on your daily exercise go on a tree hunt, encourage your child to examine the leaves they find carefully, and engage in a discussion to decide on tree identification. They could photograph the tree and the leaves to compare later.

How many different types of tree did you find?

Finally enjoy this book all about trees.
