

WHO WERE THE ANCIENT EGYPTIANS?

twinkl

Aim

- I can find out about Egyptian life by looking at artefacts.

Success Criteria

- I can point out where Egypt is on a map.
- I can describe when the ancient Egyptians lived.
- I can raise at least two questions about an artefact.
- I can decide what an artefact might have been used as.

The Ancient Egyptians

Ancient means that something existed a long time ago in the past, or that it is really old.

Sort these items into 'ancient' and 'modern': put the nouns that name something very ancient right in the middle of the target, with the modern items towards the outside.

The Ancient Egyptians

1560: The Bernacottis invent a wooden encased pencil.

1672: Verbiest's steam powered trolley, known as the first 'car'.

The Bible was written from 1400 BC to AD 90.

1926: John Logie Baird's television.

1839: Kirkpatrick Macmillan's pedal bicycle.

Modern: an 80 year old man.

Ancient Egypt: Where and When?

Can you find Egypt on the map?

Ancient Egypt: Where and When?

In 3100 BC, King Menes united two Egyptian kingdoms and built an empire that lasted until 30 BC, when the Romans took over by force.

What other periods of history do you know of that were before, during or after this time?

Ancient Egyptian Life

Life in ancient Egypt depended on a person's wealth (money) and education.

We find out information about ancient Egyptian people from the objects that they left behind.

Discuss with a family member:

1. What can we learn about the ancient Egyptians from this artefact?
2. What questions could we ask?

Photo courtesy of firepile(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence attribution

Ancient Egyptian Life

What can we learn about the ancient Egyptians from this artefact?

What questions could we ask?

1. What is it?
2. What do you think it was used for?
3. Where do you think it may have been found?
4. Who might it have belonged to?
5. What might it be made from?
6. What does it tell us about ancient Egypt?

Photo courtesy of firepile(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence attribution

Ancient Egyptian Life

What is it?

It is a statue of a cat.

What do you think it was used for?

It might have been made to look like a real cat that someone had as a pet.

Where do you think it may have been found?

It might have been found in a pyramid.

Who might it have belonged to?

It probably belonged to someone rich because it's not something you would need in your daily life, so it was a luxury.

What might it be made from?

This statue of a cat has been carved from pieces of wood. The pieces were connected using metal pins.

What does it tell us about ancient Egypt?

I think it tells us that cats were important to the ancient Egyptians because they wouldn't have made statues of them otherwise.

Photo courtesy of firepile(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence attribution

Ancient Egyptian Life

What else would you like to know about this object?

Photo courtesy of firepile(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence attribution

Examples of artefacts from Ancient Egypt

Here are some examples from museums of some Ancient Egyptian artefacts

Photo courtesy of Biker Jun and—Jeffrey- (@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

Aim

- I can find out about Egyptian life by looking at artefacts.

Success Criteria

- I can point out where Egypt is on a map.
- I can describe when the ancient Egyptians lived.
- I can raise at least two questions about an artefact.
- I can decide what an artefact might have been used as.

